Product Description

SS309S AISI 2B Stainless Steel Strip 2mm Thickness 22mm Width Cold-Rolled Natural Color

Product Description

The stainless steel strip is simply an extension of the ultra-thin stainless steel plate. It is mainly a kind of narrow and long steel plate to meet the needs of industrial production of various kinds of metal or mechanical products in different industrial sectors.

There are many kinds of stainless steel belt, widely used: 201 stainless steel belt, 202 stainless steel belt, 304 stainless steel belt, 301 stainless steel belt, 302 stainless steel belt, 303 stainless steel belt, 316 stainless steel belt, J4 stainless steel belt, 309S stainless steel belt, 316L stainless steel belt, 317L stainless steel belt, 310S stainless steel belt, 430 stainless steel iron belt and so on! Thickness: 0.02mm-4mm, width: 3.5mm-1550mm, can be done without calibration!

Stainless steel with domestic (imports) stainless steel belt, stainless steel coil, stainless steel spring, stamping stainless steel belt, stainless steel precision belt, stainless steel mirror, stainless steel cold-rolled, hot-rolled stainless steel belt, stainless steel belt, stainless steel tensile belt, polished stainless steel belt, stainless steel hard in soft belt, stainless steel belt, stainless steel belt, stainless steel, resistant to high-temperature belt, etc. Cold rolled steel strip for deep stamping is cold rolled steel strip of low carbon and high quality carbon structural steel used for deep drawing complex parts. Stainless steel belt and other materials, the physical properties mainly include the following 3 aspects: melting point, specific heat capacity, thermal conductivity and linear expansion coefficient thermodynamic properties, electrical resistivity, electrical conductivity and permeability and other electromagnetic properties, as well as Young's elastic modulus, rigidity coefficient and other mechanical properties. These properties are generally considered to be inherent in stainless steel materials, but can also be affected by factors such as temperature, machining degree and magnetic field strength. Usually stainless steel and pure iron compared with low thermal conductivity, resistance, and linear expansion coefficient and permeability and other properties vary according to the crystal structure of stainless steel itself.
