Product Description

SS201 SUS BA Stainless Steel Strip 3mm Thickness 30mm Width Cold-Rolled Bright Color

Product Description

Type 201 stainless steel is an austenitic chromium-nickel-manganese stainless alloy. It was developed mid century to conserve nickel and it is used as an alternative to type 301 in some tempered applications. Because of 201 's relatively high yield strength in the annealed condition, use of 201 is limited. Grade 201 stainless steel strip is a lower-cost alternative to the conventional Cr-Ni austenitic stainless steels, such as 304 strips. About half of the nickel content of 304 is replaced with alloy additions of manganese and nitrogen. This results in a higher strength than 304. 201 stainless steel strip has relatively lower ductility and formability compared to 301 stainless steel strip. Grade 201 also has good welding characteristics and low temperature properties. Grade 201 stainless steel strip has good formability and corrosion resistance and this makes it suitable for below applications such as kitchen equipment and catering equipment. The good strength ensures suitability in applications such as stainless steel banding straps, clamps, brackets and cable ties. Standard export packaging:
