Product Description

SS201 2B Stainless Steel Strip ASTM 0.6mm Thickness 40mm Width Cold-Rolled Bright Color Natural Surface

Product Description

Grade 201 stainless steel strip is a lower-cost alternative to the conventional Cr-Ni austenitic stainless steels, such as 304 strips.

About half of the nickel content of 304 is replaced with alloy additions of manganese and nitrogen. This results in a higher strength than 304.

201 stainless steel strip has relatively lower ductility and formability compared to 301 stainless steel strip. Grade 201 also has good welding characteristics and low temperature properties. Grade 201 stainless steel strip has good formability and corrosion resistance and this makes it suitable for below applications such as kitchen equipment and catering equipment. The good strength ensures suitability in applications such as stainless steel banding straps, clamps, brackets and cable ties.
