Product Description

Galvanised steel is represented by cold- and hot-rolled coils with a zinc coating, which helps to protect the steel against atmospheric corrosion. Galvanised steel coils are successfully used in industries with stringent requirements for corrosion resistance, durability, strength and appearance, and can be formed or have various coatings applied. The key standards to be followed for the production of galvanised coils include EN 10346 (Europe), ASTM A653 / A653M (US), DSTU EN 10346 (Ukraine), GOST 14918-80 (Russia and the CIS) and GOST R 52246-04 (Russia). Manufacturers also have their own original standards. Welcome to your enquiry all the time!
