Product Description

Chinese Seamless Steel Pipes S355 Mild Steel Pipes A572 EN GB Standard 89mm OD 4.78mm Thickness Painting Available

Product Description

S355 Grade Steel can undergo different heat treatment processes to improve its mechanical properties. Typical heat treatment processes include quenching, tempering, normalizing, and annealing. During quenching and tempering, the steel is subjected to high temperatures and cooled rapidly, making it much stronger. Normalizing makes the steel more malleable and improves strength, while annealing reduces internal stress and machinability.
