Product Description

304L Stainless Steel Sheets SS Coils Inox 1219 Width 0.8mm 0.6mm Thickness EN GB Standard

Product Description

One of its many benefits is machinability, Grades 304 and 321 of SS are the two most often used grades when creating coils. These two classes offer the ability to machine materials smoothly and effectively. During the welding process, it doesn't lose any strength, but annealing assures maximum corrosion resistance. After welding, these products restore their original physical characteristics and machining capabilities.
